

Emergency Preparedness is often approached from a place of fear. The subject can be scary. Girl Scouts wants to make this subject fun for girls and volunteers. The purpose of this patch program is to take the fear away and replace it with empowered Girl Scouts!

- How: Sign up to earn the patch this summer. Give to your girls. Have them report back to you or do as a troop. Every two weeks another segment requirement will be e-mailed. Requirements may fit into a Journey you are earning.
- Cost: $14.00/scout which is the cost of the badge and segments. Send one troop check payable to Yorktown Girl Scouts to Julia Liucci, 2625 Evergreen St., Yorktown Heights, N.Y. 10598 or put in the black Weber grill to the right of her front door.

RSVP: If your troop is going to participate, you must respond to Julia at homejal@aol.com on or before July 1, 2020.

Note: If you are not sure if your girls would be interested, test it out. Sign up, receive the segment requirements every two weeks. Then, if you like it, pay for the cost of the badge.

Subjects: Water, First Aid, Pets, Food, Light & Heat, Communication, Cooking, Shelter, and Mutual Aid.

Patches will not be ordered until around the middle of August; plenty of time to decide if you want them.

Begin: Start earning your Zombie now. You must accept the Survival Challenge by signing your Zombie agreement (Appendix A) promising that you will work hard to help your Zombie survive the challenge. Your first assignment is to brainstorm just what challenges your Zombie might come across. What emergencies or disasters, natural or man-made might affect you, your troop, your family, and your community and thus your Zombie? This will help determine what tools you and your Zombie will need to survive. Play Disaster Master, on your computer to help you determine what you are preparing for: <https://www.ready.gov/kids/games/data/dm-english/index.html>
